

Q1. Draw a system flow chart of a business where customer orders are collected on paper, keyed in and stored in the customer order file. A stock master file is searched to determine whether sufficient stock is available and an appropriate report is produced.

Q2. A multinational bank is undergoing software upgradation process, suggest as which changeover methodology will be the best suited in this organization so that normal process will also not effected. Give sufficient reasons to prove your choice.

Q3. Complete the following table and try to use every type of testing being covered.

Name of testing technique	Procedure	Tested by whom	Benefits

Q4. What is the need of planning before data migration and what all incompatibility issues can arise during this process.

Date- 24th June 2020
IBDP Year I
SUBJECT – Computer Science

- Q1. Explain verification and validation with a real time example. Try to draw/express the UI which depicts the best difference between both of them.
- Q2. When external documentation is done by the development team then what is the need of internal documentation?
- Q3. Highlight the importance of different methods of providing user documentation?
- Q4. Give at least two reasons why software gets updated.